Post doctorate tobacco control researcher

The Public Health Research Center of NYU Abu Dhabi is currently seeking a Post-Doctoral Fellow to work on a variety of projects related to tobacco control and tobacco cessation. Candidates with a strong interest in public health, epidemiology and behavioral psychology are strongly urged to apply.

Under the general supervision of the Principal Investigator(s), the Fellow will conduct quantitative and qualitative (e.g., focus groups) and behavioral-based interventions and research, which will include the selection and refinement of measures, the development and implementation of surveys, overseeing the quality control of data collection, and the preparation of findings. Applying knowledge of public health, tobacco control and tobacco control interventions, the Fellow will assist in conceptualizing, writing and editing research reports, scholarly articles, grant applications, and psycho-educational materials. The position will also include conducting literature reviews, the reading and analyzing of qualitative data, and the preparation of informal and formal presentations.

Qualifications:

- Candidates must hold a PhD (in public health, psychology, epidemiology or related fields) or MD.
- Demonstrated skill in written communication that expresses complex clinical and scientific content in understandable terms. Experience in proofreading, and editing in content, style, flow, and tone.
- Strong organizational skills and ability to manage multiple projects. Must possess efficient time management skills with an ability to meet deadlines. Ability to work with minimal direction and on a self-directed basis as well as in a team setting.
- Demonstrate interpersonal, written and oral communication skills in English to effectively communicate, collaborate, and establish and maintain good working relationships with a diverse population of multi-disciplinary researcher, faculty and staff. Demonstrated ability to communicate with tact, diplomacy, flexibility, professionalism, and discretion.
- International applicants are encouraged, and experience in cross-linguistic work in Arabic, or other Middle Eastern and South Asian languages are especially welcome.
