New York University in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates invites applications for a Temporary Professor of Chemistry to teach Organic Chemistry 2 in spring semester 2015 only. A PhD with teaching and research experience in organic chemistry is required.

The Temporary / Visiting Professor will support NYU Abu Dhabi's educational mission by teaching Organic Chemistry 2 (CHEM-AD 102) and its associated laboratory, which is the second semester of a comprehensive and rigorous introduction to organic chemistry, and is part of the chemistry curriculum at the University. The Temporary Professor will teach the lecture part of the course, oversee the laboratory component, and take part in departmental activities and responsibilities.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three degree-granting campuses - New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi - complemented by 12 additional academic centers across five continents. Faculty and students circulate within the network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.

Entering its fifth year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are at once distinguished in their research and teaching. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. NYU Abu Dhabi’s highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

Applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching experience (1 page), and two letters of recommendation (assessing teaching abilities) in PDF format to be considered. Applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.
