Assistant / Associate Writing Program Instructor
Art and Humanities Division
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Arts and Humanities Division is inviting applications for Writing Program Instructor positions at all levels. Instructors support NYU Abu Dhabi's educational mission by assisting faculty with courses in all disciplines. Instructors lead discussion sections, hold review sessions, provide assistance with the preparation, development, and assessment of courses, and take part in departmental activities. Participation in professional development opportunities is expected and supported.

We encourage applicants with a Master’s degree in TESL, Writing Studies, Composition, or related fields. Individuals with a higher degree who are interested in working in an academic support role will also be considered. Candidates with extensive experience in Writing Programs, Writing Centers, and academic tutoring are also encouraged to apply. An ideal applicant would be an excellent communicator both orally and in written English. A candidate with strong quantitative skills is desired.

Instructors in the NYUAD Writing Program play an integral role in the development of students’ written and oral expression throughout the four years of their NYUAD education—from the first-year experience to the Capstone project. As academic support staff, they help the Writing Program Directors with assessment and course placement; serve as writing and/or speech consultants in the Writing Center; give individualized tutorials as course assistants for faculty in Analysis & Expression and writing-intensive classes. Furthermore, Instructors may provide writing support in secondary academic assignments; consult with faculty on best writing and speaking practices across the curriculum; provide individual and group support for Capstone projects; and support Writing Program and Writing Center initiatives (such as special workshops, website development, and curricular or extra-curricular events). Instructors are expected to participate in ongoing training through participation in development workshops throughout the year. Instructors also engage in their own writing projects, and they will be asked to meet deadlines and share their ongoing work as part of staff development.

Salaries and benefits are competitive. Appointments are for up to three years with the opportunity to renew. For more details on the NYUAD Arts and Humanities program, please visit http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/academic-divisions/arts-humanities.html

Applicants should submit a complete set of transcripts for all coursework, a curriculum vitae, a teaching statement, and contact information for three references. Please visit our website at http://nyuad.nyu.edu/about/careers/faculty-positions.html for instructions and other information on how to apply. Applications will be open until January 10, 2016 and will be considered on a rolling basis. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.writingprogram@nyu.edu

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complimented by a network of over 15 research and study-away sites across five continents. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Entering its sixth year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. NYU Abu Dhabi’s highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.
