NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational, degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of over 15 research and study-away sites across five continents. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests, the promotion of cross-cultural understanding and solutions for problems, both local and global.

NYU Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint an innovative and accomplished professor of Acting for its dynamic Theater program; this is an open-rank search. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to play an integral role in fashioning a complete international research university oriented around the liberal arts. We are looking for an artist/teacher who has a strong professional profile, and a demonstrated commitment to undergraduate teaching. The NYUAD Theater Program balances practical training with rigorous academic study, and takes a global view of theater and the arts. We aim to produce theater artists and scholars who are engaged citizens of the world; we prize a collaborative approach in all aspects of our work, including curriculum development (through team-teaching and inter-disciplinary courses) and theatre-making. We seek to establish theatre and performance as vibrant and key components in the cultural and intellectual life of the University and the community.

Candidates for this position should hold an MFA and/or have extensive professional stage experience, as well as significant experience teaching in internationally recognized theater training programs and/or liberal arts universities. Additional expertise in the areas of voice and/or movement training would be highly valued, as would experience in non-Western and experimental methods.

Entering its third year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished both in their research and teaching. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both U.S. and international. NYU Abu Dhabi’s highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

The terms of employment are competitive and include housing and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend time at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching. The appointment begins on September 1, 2013.

Applications for this position are due by October 19; applications received later will be reviewed until the position is filled. To be considered, applicants should submit a cover letter describing their training, experience, teaching philosophy and approach to actor training, a Curriculum Vitae, and three letters of reference, all in PDF format.
