Emmanuel Akyeampong
Harvard University

Emmanuel Akyeampong is a Ghanaian national and currently Professor of History in the Department of African and African American studies at Harvard University. As a former chair of the Committee on African Studies he has been instrumental in creating the Department of African and African American Studies. Professor Akyeampong is the faculty associate for the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs. He holds a PhD from the University of Virginia.