Matthew Hopper
California Polytechnic State University

Matthew Hopper is Assistant Professor of History at California Polytechnic State University. Professor Hopper has conducted extensive research on the history of African Diaspora communities in the Middle East, particularly in the Arab Gulf region. He holds a PhD from University of California Los Angeles.