Leonce Ndikumana
African Development Bank

Dr. Leonce Ndikumana, a Burundian national, is Head of Research at the African Development Bank. Dr. Ndikumana has conducted extensive research on external debt and capital flight and the politics of conflicts and civil wars in Africa. Dr. Ndikumana has previously held positions as Research Associate at the Political Economy Research Institute (PERI) and as Professor of Economics at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. He holds a PhD from Washington University St. Louis.