PRESENTER INFORMATION AND BIOGRAPHIES

Sean Corcoran
Title: Assistant Professor of Educational Economics
Affiliation: The Steinhardt School of Culture, Education and Human Development, New York University
Country of Residence: United States

Sean P. Corcoran is an assistant professor of educational economics at the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development, New York University. He is an affiliated faculty member of the NYU Wagner School of Public Service, and the NYU Institute for Education and Social Policy. His research interests include state and local public finance, labor economics, the economics of education, and applied (micro) econometrics. Professor Corcoran is a research associate of the Economic Policy Institute in Washington, D.C., is the principal investigator for major grants related to the political economy of school funding from the Spencer and Russell Sage Foundations, and was a 2005-06 visiting scholar at the Russell Sage Foundation. His recent publications can be found in the Journal of Policy Analysis and Management, the Journal of Urban Economics, and the American Economic Review.