James W. Fraser

Title: Professor of History & Education

Affiliation: The Steinhardt School of Culture, Education and Human Development, New York University

Recent Publications: Preparing America’s Teachers: A History (2007)

Country of Residence: United States

James W. Fraser is Professor of History & Education at the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development at New York University. He is also Senior Vice President for Programs at the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation where he is currently leading an effort to rethink university-based teacher education while also recruiting top level candidates to the teaching profession. Prior to coming to NYU Fraser was the founding dean of the School of Education at Northeastern University in Boston, MA. His most recent book is Preparing America’s Teachers: A History. He is also an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ and was pastor of Grace Church in East Boston from 1986 to 2006.

He lives in New York City with his wife Katherine and their dog Pebble. They have four daughters and three grandchildren.