Ted Magder

Title: Associate Professor and Chair, Department of Media, Culture, and Communication and Director, NYU Council for Media and Culture
Affiliation: New York University, Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development
Country of Residence: United States

Ted Magder is an associate professor and chair of the Department of Media, Culture and Communication at New York University. His research focuses on the legal and regulatory regimes that influence the flow of both media and culture across borders. Recent publications have examined the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and Promotion of Diversity in Cultural Expressions, on-line gambling and the World Trade Organization, and the principles of world communication. He is also the author of Canada’s Hollywood: Feature Films and the Canadian State, and Franchising the Candy Store: Split-Run Magazines and a New International Regime for Trade in Culture. Magder was a visiting scholar at the University of Amsterdam’s School of Communication Research in 2003. Magder was the Malim Harding Visiting Professor of Political Science at the University of Toronto in 200. He served as the special academic advisor to the UN World Television Conference in 1999 and 2000.

Since 2006, Ted Magder has also served as the founding director of the Council for Media and Culture at NYU.

Magder received his B.A. from the University of Toronto, his M.A. from Carleton University in Ottawa, and his Ph.D. in Political Science from York University in Toronto. In 1888, he was a post-doctoral fellow at the Centre for Communication and Information Studies at the University of Westminster.