The Writing Program at NYU Abu Dhabi invites applications for full-time, Language Lecturer positions to teach writing to academically outstanding students from around the world. Ideal candidates will have experience working with students from diverse cultural and language backgrounds. We seek candidates with backgrounds in Middle Eastern Studies, Gender Studies, and the Social Sciences, though scholars and teachers from all disciplines are encouraged to apply.

Appointments are for one year and subject to renewal. Language Lecturers teach four sections (or their equivalent) of writing courses over the academic year, provide mentorship to writing fellows, and participate in faculty development activities. Applicants should have a minimum of two years of experience teaching writing at a college or university. A PhD is preferred. NYUAD is looking for creative individuals who are flexible, outgoing, open to new environments, and respectful of diverse backgrounds and learning styles.

Language Lecturers attend orientation in August, participate in regular writing development workshops throughout the academic year, continue ongoing research in their academic or creative fields, and participate actively in the intellectual life of NYUAD.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three degree-granting campuses - New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi - complemented by 12 additional academic centers across five continents. Faculty and students will circulate within the network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.

Entering its third year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are at once distinguished in their research and teaching. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. NYU Abu Dhabi’s highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

Review of applications will begin immediately for Fall 2013 appointments and continue until positions are filled. Applications should include: a cover letter that explains your interest in teaching in Abu Dhabi and specific qualities you will bring to the program; statement of teaching philosophy; current CV; and a recent writing sample (20-30 pages).
