Academic experience

---

Research Assistant: Shanghai Jiaotong University

Professor: Richard Carney

Project Name: Sovereign Wealth Fund Activism

The hypotheses are that: Savings SWFs located in Dominant Party Authoritarian regimes (Temasek, Khazanah, Russia fund) will display the most hostile tactics on average. DPARs are authoritarian regimes in which there is a ruling party that competes against opposition parties, but opponents rarely win.

Responsibilities: Data collection and analysis

Collect over 450 SWFs transactions and analysis their objectives and the activism.

Academic Projects

---

Oversea Field-Trip, Tarapoto, Peru

Project Name: What challenges and opportunities of the moto-taxi industry in Tarapoto faces in achieving sustainable urban economic development?

This project is allowing the selected techniques and skills for diagnosis, strategic visioning, and policy formulation in urban economic development practice to be applied in a less-advanced economic context.

Achievements and responsibilities:

- Interview the relate shareholders (drivers, customers, governors)
- Qualitative analysis the relate industry report in macro and micro level
- Econometric analysis and prediction

Report conclusion and recommendation: Noise issues, environmental issues and safety is the key problem caused by mototaxi industry in Tarapoto. Political environment and short-term economic impact lead to the inaction of local Government. Recommendation: 1. Government can introduced the electro car in local market by tax reduction or instalment payment. 2. Public transportation improvement by PPP.

The London Project, Client: Greater London Authority Economics

Project Name: How can the UK better compete strategically for more international students?

Position: Group Leader

Achievements and responsibilities:

- Industry Research in 5 English teaching countries (USA, CANADA, AUSTRALIA, FRENCH and GERMANY)
- Collected more than 500 international students surveys from all over the world
- Qualitative analysis and modelling

Result: High requirement for working visa and tuition fee are the main weaknesses of the UK's international student market. But due to high reputation and education quality, international market will remain highly competitive in the short term.
